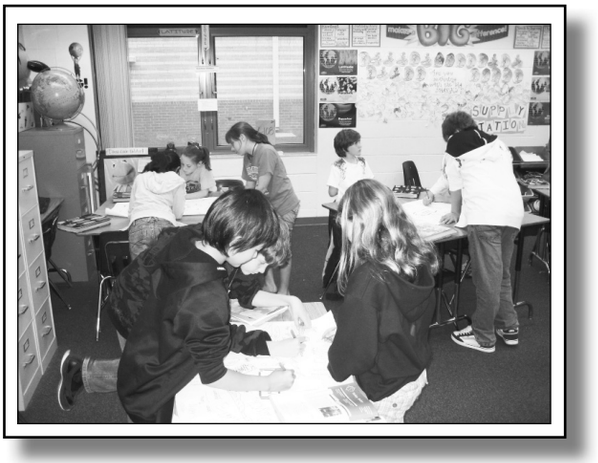
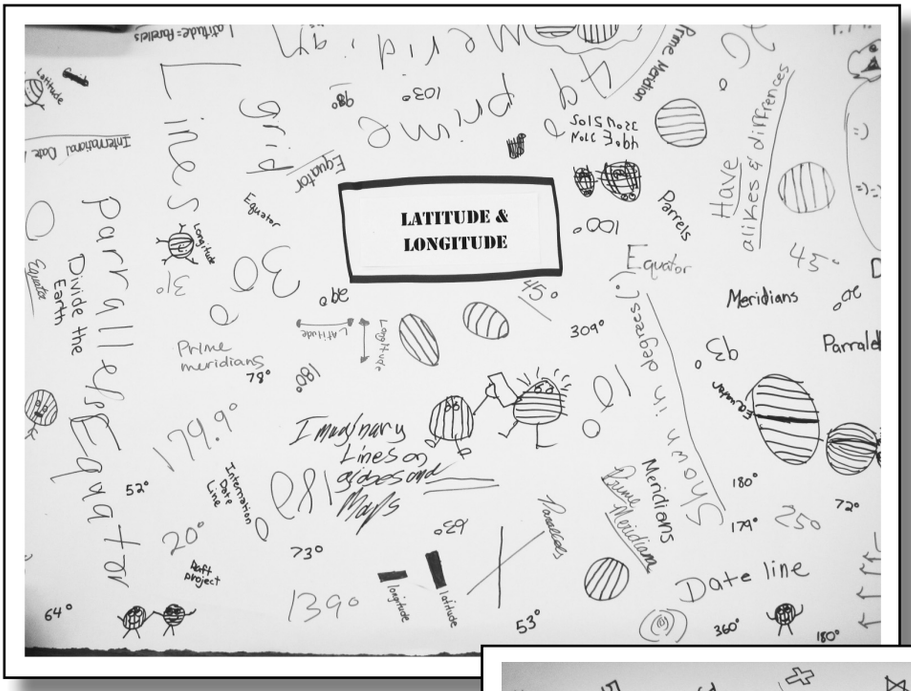
CAROUSEL GRAFFITI



Tracie Russo's students engaged in a Carousel Graffiti.



Carousel Graffiti is an excellent culminating strategy. Each prompt must be open ended enough that the students will not be able to write down every possible answer.

Finished Carousel Graffiti from Tracie's classroom.

Tracie Russo asks her students to write down as much as they know about longitude and latitude and then what she calls the "3 Big Religions". All four of those prompts are open ended and could generate dozens if not hundreds of possible answers.
